DECISION

DELOS SANTOS, J.:

This is a Petition for Review on Certiorari<sup>1</sup> filed under Rule 45 of the Rules of Court assailing the Decision<sup>2</sup> dated December 7, 2017 and the Resolution<sup>3</sup> dated May 9, 2018 of the Court of Appeals (CA) in CA-G.R. CR No. 39430, which affirmed with modification the Decision<sup>4</sup> dated November 18, 2016 of the Regional Trial Court (RTC) of [REDACTED], in finding Rodolfo C. Mendoza (petitioner) guilty beyond reasonable doubt of the crime of Acts of Lasciviousness under Article 336 of the Revised Penal Code (RPC), in relation to Section 5 (b), Article III of Republic Act No. (RA) 7610, otherwise known as the Special Protection of Children Against Abuse, Exploitation and Discrimination Act.

The Facts

Herein petitioner was charged with the crime of Acts of Lasciviousness under Article 336 of the RPC in relation to Section 5 (b), RA 7610 in an Information that reads as follows:

That on or about the 8th day of March 2016, in [REDACTED], Philippines, the said accused, with lewd designs by means of force and coercion, did then and there, willfully, unlawfully and feloniously perform lascivious acts upon the person of one AAA,<sup>5</sup> a nine (9) years (sic) old, minor, by then and there kissing her lips twice, done against her will and without her consent, which act debase, degrade and demean the intrinsic worth and dignity of the said child as a human being.

CONTRARY TO LAW.<sup>6</sup>

When arraigned, petitioner pleaded not guilty to the crime charged. After the pre-trial conference, trial on the merits ensued.

Prosecution's Version of the Facts:

The prosecution presented the child victim, AAA and Police Officer II (PO2) Roygbiv Cristobal as its witnesses. AAA testified that on March 8, 2016, at around 1:00 A.M., she woke up to urinate outside of the "barracks" (a house under construction), where she, her elder sister, BBB, and her brother-in-law, CCC, were sleeping. Suddenly, a man, later identified by AAA as petitioner, pulled her by her right arm, brought her to a dark place in front of the barracks and kissed her twice on the lips, with an interval of two (2) minutes. Allegedly, petitioner threatened AAA not to report the incident to the police. When petitioner ran towards a well-lighted place, she recognized petitioner, particularly his haircut. AAA also ran towards her father, who was in [REDACTED], and told him that somebody kissed her. They reported the incident at Barangay [REDACTED]. Barangay Police Security Officer (BPSO) Alvin Sausal assisted them and brought them and petitioner to the [REDACTED] Police Station for investigation.<sup>7</sup>

Even before the kissing incident, she already saw petitioner many times as he works in the area where she lives but does not know his name. AAA observed petitioner's haircut when both of them were buying food at the same time at the tricycle terminal. AAA testified that it was her sister

<sup>5</sup> In accordance with Amended Administrative Circular No. 83-2015, the identities of the parties, records and court proceedings are kept confidential by replacing their names and other personal circumstances with fictitious initials, and by blotting out the specific geographical location that may disclose the identities of the victims. To note, the unmodified CA Decision was not attached to the records to verify the real name of the victim.

BBB who told her the name of petitioner.<sup>8</sup>

Defense's Version of the Facts:

The defense presented petitioner as its sole witness. Petitioner interposed the defenses of denial and alibi. Petitioner alleged that he was sleeping at a temporary shelter with five (5) other workers, including CCC, AAA's brother-in-law. Upon waking up, he was surprised to learn that he was being charged for kissing AAA.<sup>9</sup>

The Ruling of the RTC

In its Decision<sup>10</sup> dated November 18, 2016, the RTC held that the prosecution was able to establish and prove the elements of the crime of acts of lasciviousness. The direct, clear and straightforward testimony of AAA was given credence by the RTC compared to petitioner's defense of bare denial. The RTC opined that petitioner's act of kissing a nine (9)-year-old child is morally inappropriate and indecent designed to abuse her.

The dispositive portion of the RTC Decision reads as follows:

WHEREFORE, premises considered, judgment is hereby rendered finding accused Rodolfo Mendoza y Caryl guilty beyond reasonable doubt of Acts of Lasciviousness [Article 336 of the Revised Penal Code in relation to Sec. 5(b), Republic Act No. 7610 (Special Protection of Children Against Child Abuse, Exploitation and Discrimination Act)] and is sentenced to suffer an indeterminate penalty of twelve (12) years and one (1) day of reclusion temporal in its minimum period, as minimum, to fifteen (15) years, six (6) months and twenty (20) days of reclusion temporal in its medium period, as maximum.

Accused is further ordered to pay private complainant AAA [P]20,000.00 as civil indemnity, [P]30,000.00 as moral damages and [P]2,000.00 as exemplary damages.

The amount of damages awarded are subject further to interest of six (6%) percent per annum from the date of finality of this judgment until they are fully paid.

Let Mittimus issue.

The Ruling of the CA

On appeal, petitioner argued that the RTC erred in convicting him considering that his arrest was illegal and that the prosecution failed to establish his identity beyond reasonable doubt. The CA denied his appeal on the following grounds: (a) petitioner is estopped from questioning the illegality of his arrest on appeal due to his failure to object to the illegality of his arrest prior to his arraignment; (b) the prosecution was able to establish the identity of petitioner as even though AAA remembered petitioner mainly by his haircut, she was already familiar with petitioner as she saw him working at the construction site before the incident; and (c) all the elements of the crime of acts of lasciviousness and the elements of sexual abuse under Section 5, Article III of RA 7610 have been proven in this case. The CA, however, modified the penalty imposed on petitioner.

The fallo of the now assailed CA Decision<sup>12</sup> is hereby reproduced, thus:

WHEREFORE, the appeal is DISMISSED. The Decision dated 18 November 2016 of the Regional Trial Court, [REDACTED], finding accused-appellant Rodolfo C. Mendoza guilty of the crime of Acts of Lasciviousness or Article 336 of the Revised Penal Code, in relation to Sec. 5(b), Republic Act No. 7610 is AFFIRMED with MODIFICATION in that he is sentenced to suffer the indeterminate penalty of twelve (12) years and one (1) day of reclusion temporal in its minimum period, as minimum term to seventeen (17) years, four (4) months and one (1) day of reclusion temporal as the maximum term. The Court likewise upholds the civil indemnity subject to interest of six (6%) percent per annum from the date of finality of this judgment until they are fully paid.

SO ORDERED.<sup>13</sup>

Aggrieved, petitioner elevated the case before the Court via Rule 45 of the Rules of Court submitting the following issues for the Court's resolution:

The Court's Ruling

The present petition is unmeritorious.

It bears to emphasize that in a petition for review on certiorari filed under Rule 45 of the Rules of Court, the Court is only limited to questions of law. The Court is not a trier of facts and its function is limited to reviewing errors of law that may have been committed by the lower courts.<sup>14</sup>

Petitioner admits in his petition questions of fact and he asserts that this case falls under the exception<sup>15</sup> to the general rule considering that the factual findings of the lower courts do not conform to the evidence on record.

An evaluation of the case shows that none of the exceptions are present in the case to warrant the review and reversal of the factual findings of the lower courts.

Even assuming that the exceptions are present in the case, the grounds interposed in the petition fail to convince the Court.

<sup>15</sup> Prudential Bank v. Rapanot, 803 Phil. 294, 306 (2017): (1) when the findings, are grounded entirely on speculation, surmises or conjectures; (2) when the inference made is manifestly mistaken, absurd or impossible; (3) when there is grave abuse of discretion; (4) when the judgment is based on a misapprehension of facts; (5) when the findings of facts are conflicting; (6) when in making its findings the Court of Appeals went beyond the issues of the case, or its findings are contrary to the admissions of both the appellant and the appellee; (7) when the findings are contrary to the trial court; (8) when the findings are conclusions without citation of specific evidence on which they are based; (9) when the facts set forth in the petition as well as in the petitioner's main and reply briefs are not disputed by the respondent; (10) when the findings of fact are premised on the supposed absence of evidence and contradicted by the evidence on record; and (11) when the Court of Appeals manifestly overlooked certain relevant facts not disputed by the parties, which, if properly considered, would justify a different conclusion.

Petitioner is estopped from questioning the legality of his arrest.

Herein petitioner claims that he was denied due process as his warrantless arrest was illegal. It is well-settled that failure to move for the quashal of an Information on this ground prior to arraignment bars an accused from raising the same on appeal under the doctrine of estoppel.<sup>16</sup> The CA correctly held that any defect on the arrest of petitioner has been cured by his voluntary act of entering a plea and actively participating in the trial.

All the elements of the crime of Acts of Lasciviousness were duly established and proven.

In the present petition, herein petitioner asserts that the prosecution failed to establish elements of the crime charged, particularly the age or the minority of AAA. Petitioner asserts that, other than the allegation of AAA's age in the Information, the prosecution failed to present her birth certificate or any other authentic documentary evidence to prove her age or minority.

It is well-settled that the presentation of a birth certificate or other pieces of evidence are not at all times necessary to prove the age or minority of the victim. The courts may take judicial notice of the age of the victim especially if the victim is of tender age and it is quite manifest or obvious in the physical appearance of the child. The Court held that the crucial years pertain to the ages of 15 to 17 where minority may seem to be dubitable due to one's physical appearance.<sup>17</sup> In People v. Rivera,<sup>18</sup> the Court held that the trial court can only take judicial notice of the victim's minority when the latter is, for example, 10 years old or below.<sup>19</sup>

As such, taking judicial notice of the age of AAA by the RTC and the CA is proper. It is worthy to mention that this particular issue is raised for the first time in the instant petition and petitioner never disputed the age of AAA during the proceedings before the RTC and even before the CA.

The Court concurs with the CA that all the elements of the crime of Acts of Lasciviousness under the RPC and Lascivious Conduct under Section 5 (b), Article III of RA 7610 have been sufficiently established in the case at bench.

Section 5 (b), Article III of RA 7610 provides that:

Section 5. Child Prostitution and Other Sexual Abuse. – Children, whether male or female, who for money, profit, or any other consideration or due to the coercion or influence of any adult, syndicate or group, indulge in sexual intercourse or lascivious conduct, are deemed to be children exploited in prostitution and other sexual abuse.

The penalty of reclusion temporal in its medium period to reclusion perpetua shall be imposed upon the following:

x x x x

(b) Those who commit the act of sexual intercourse or lascivious conduct with a child exploited in prostitution or subject to other sexual abuse; Provided, That when the victims is under twelve (12) years of age, the perpetrators shall be prosecuted under Article 335, paragraph 3, for rape and Article 336 of Act No. 3815, as amended, the Revised Penal Code, for rape or lascivious conduct, as the case may be: Provided, That the penalty for lascivious conduct when the victim is under twelve (12) years of age shall be reclusion temporal in its medium period]. (Emphases supplied)

The elements of the foregoing offense are the following:

- (a) The accused commits the act of sexual intercourse or lascivious conduct;
- (b) The said act is performed with a child exploited in prostitution or subjected to other sexual abuse; and
- (c) The child, whether male or female, is below 18 years of age.<sup>20</sup>

When the lascivious act is committed against a minor below 12 years old, Section 5 (b), Article III of RA 7610 requires that, in addition to the foregoing requisites, the elements of the crime of Acts of Lasciviousness under Article 336 of the RPC must likewise be met, to wit:

- (a) that the offender commits any act of lasciviousness or lewdness;
- (b) that it is done under any of the following circumstances:
  - (i) through force, threat, or intimidation,

<sup>20</sup> Olivarez v. CA, 503 Phil. 421, 431 (2005).

- (ii) when the offended party is deprived of reason or otherwise unconscious,
  - (iii) by means of fraudulent machination or grave abuse of authority, and
  - (iv) when the offended party is under twelve (12) years of age or is demented, even though none of the circumstances mentioned above be present; and
- (c) that the offended party is another person of either sex.<sup>21</sup>

Firstly, petitioner was duly proven to have committed a lascivious or lewd act by kissing a nine (9)-year-old child on the lips against her will and intimidated her in not reporting the incident under threat of harm against her life.

Secondly, the prosecution was able to sufficiently establish that AAA was subjected to other sexual abuse when she indulged in a lascivious conduct under the coercion or influence of an adult – petitioner.

As explained in Caballo v. People:<sup>22</sup>

As it is presently worded, Section 5, Article III of RA 7610 provides that when a child indulges in sexual intercourse or any lascivious conduct due to the coercion or influence of any adult, the child is deemed to be a “child exploited in prostitution and other sexual abuse.” In this manner, the law is able to act as an effective deterrent to quell all forms of abuse, neglect, cruelty, exploitation and discrimination against children, prejudicial as they are to their development.

In this relation, case law further clarifies that sexual intercourse or lascivious conduct under the coercion or influence of any adult exists when there is some form of compulsion equivalent to intimidation which subdues the free exercise of the offended party's free will.<sup>23</sup> (Emphasis supplied)

In relation thereto, the Court further explained the aspect of other sexual abuse in Quimvel v. People,<sup>24</sup> as cited in People v. Eulalio,<sup>25</sup> viz.:

As regards the second additional element, it is settled that the child is deemed subjected to other sexual abuse when the child engages in lascivious conduct under the coercion or influence of any adult. Intimidation need not necessarily be irresistible. It is sufficient that

some compulsion equivalent to intimidation annuls or subdues the free exercise of the will of the offended party. The law does not require physical violence on the person of the victim; moral coercion or ascendancy is sufficient.

The petitioner's proposition — that there is not even an iota of proof of force or intimidation as AAA was asleep when the offense was committed and, hence, he cannot be prosecuted under RA 7610 — is bereft of merit. When the victim of the crime is a child under twelve (12) years old, mere moral ascendancy will suffice.<sup>26</sup>

The relative seniority of petitioner over AAA, who was merely nine (9) years old at the time of the incident, clearly established petitioner's moral ascendancy over AAA. As held in Quimvel, when the victim of the crime is a child under 12 years old, mere moral ascendancy will suffice to establish influence or intimidation and such elements of force and intimidation are subsumed in coercion and influence.<sup>27</sup>

Petitioner was sufficiently and appropriately identified.

Petitioner contends that his identity was not duly established by the prosecution considering that AAA, who is the prosecution's lone eyewitness, only identified the perpetrator by his haircut and she did not see other unique or identifying marks on the person who kissed her. There was no mention of the physique or the voice of the perpetrator that could have associated petitioner as the assailant.

Contrary to the assertions of petitioner, though AAA only remembered him by his haircut, she had known him even before the kissing incident. AAA testified that she had known petitioner as he was working at the construction site where she lives and where the incident happened. AAA further testified that she has even seen petitioner at a store near the tricycle terminal where both of them were buying from the same store.

It is well-entrenched in this jurisdiction that testimonies of child-victims are given full faith and credit since youth and immaturity are badges of truth and sincerity.<sup>28</sup> Moreover, when the issue is one of credibility of witnesses, it is well-settled that the appellate courts will generally not disturb the factual findings of the trial court considering that it is in a better position to decide on the issue as it heard the witnesses themselves and observed their deportment and manner of testifying during the trial.<sup>29</sup> When the findings of the RTC are affirmed by the CA, these deserve great weight and are generally binding and conclusive upon the Court.<sup>30</sup> Considering that there is no showing that the RTC overlooked or misapplied facts or circumstances of great weight, the findings and assessment of the RTC, which were affirmed by the CA, as regards the credibility of the witness, will be respected by the Court.

The Penalty and award of damages.

Section 5 (b), Article III of RA 7610 provides that the impossible penalty for lascivious conduct when the victim is under 12 years of age shall be reclusion temporal in its medium period.

Applying the Indeterminate Sentence Law,<sup>31</sup> and in the absence of mitigating or aggravating circumstances, the minimum term shall be taken from the penalty next lower to reclusion temporal medium, which is reclusion temporal minimum ranging from twelve (12) years and one (1) day to fourteen (14) years and eight (8) months. The maximum term shall be taken from the medium period of the impossible penalty, which is reclusion temporal in its medium period ranging from fifteen (15) years, six (6) months and twenty (20) days to sixteen (16) years, five (5) months and nine (9) days.<sup>32</sup>

The penalty imposed by the CA is proper.

However, in consonance with the Court's pronouncement in People v. Tulagan,<sup>33</sup> the damages awarded by the CA must be modified in that petitioner shall be liable to pay AAA the amounts of ₱50,000.00 as civil indemnity, ₱50,000.00 as moral damages, and ₱50,000.00 as exemplary damages.

WHEREFORE, the instant petition is DENIED. The Decision dated December 7, 2017 and the Resolution dated May 9, 2018 of the Court of Appeals in CA-G.R. CR No. 39430 are hereby AFFIRMED with MODIFICATIONS in that petitioner Rodolfo C. Mendoza is ordered to pay AAA the amounts of ₱50,000.00 as civil indemnity, ₱50,000.00 as moral damages, and ₱50,000.00 as exemplary damages.
